

Win One of Six 4500 Series miniModels
Planes from Paul K. Guillow, Inc.!

Paul K. Guillow, Inc. is one of the world's largest toy airplane manufacturers and oversees one of the most complete lines of flying toys available. Since 1926, nearly every American boy, girl, and adult who is young at heart has enjoyed the inexpensive Guillow's balsa wood gliders. The company makes fun balsa gliders and model construction kits for older kids and adults alike. Their website boasts 20 different flying toys and 60 scale airplane construction kits.

The new miniModels in the 4500 series contain 6 models, proudly made in America. The series starts with the U.S. Hellcat or U.S. Warhawk, each with red propellers. The handsome German Fighter has distinctive black markings on its wingtips while the American war models sport patriotic blue. The non-military Rockstar Jet, V-Tail and Stunt Flyer round out the six miniModels. Requiring no cutting of parts or sanding, anyone can add a little glue, making these simple enough to construct in one night. What a great and affordable project for parent/child, scouts or other groups.

Ten (10) lucky members will each win one of six 4500 Series miniModels planes from Paul K. Guillow, Inc.!
